

Aryak Mohanty

About Me

As a currently enrolled college student pursuing a B.tech degree in Computer Science, I am seeking an internship or entry-level position where I can apply my knowledge and gain valuable experience in software development, operations and support, data analysis, and frontend development. With experience in software development and technical support, as well as skills in programming languages and data analysis, I am excited to contribute to a team and continue learning as I work towards my career goals.
